

Foodbuy

Introduction: Foodbuy partners with Scanmarket

Foodbuy, a leading group procurement organization, has partnered with Scanmarket.

The partnership reflects Foodbuy's ongoing commitment to delivering additional levels of innovation and transparency around its procurement processes with Scanmarket being used for issuing requests for information, running eAuctions, storing contract information and managing project workflows.

Ian Murphy, Managing Director of Foodbuy said: "We're excited about our strategic partnership with Scanmarket. We think they're a real disruptor in the strategic sourcing market and have been impressed with the levels of innovation we can pass on to our clients. We chose Scanmarket because they're excellent at simplifying complex processes and they have great customer service."

Benefit: The implementation process was seamless

"Scanmarket's ability to integrate with our own in-house eProcurement platform means we have a more transparent, streamlined system which will benefit both our clients and our suppliers, through increased clarity on decision making and the timelines behind our sourcing programs. The implementation of the system has been seamless and we've received some great bespoke support" - he added.

Dan Gianfreda, Director of Sales & Marketing for Scanmarket said: "We are delighted to partner with Foodbuy. They are a progressive procurement business handling lots of growth. We're looking forward to supporting them in driving real, measurable results and delivering sustainable value."

About Foodbuy

Foodbuy is a leading food procurement organization based in the UK. With over £1B of managed spend, we bring together the widest range of foodservice and hospitality clients to buy food, and everything associated with it.

We work closely with our clients to deliver expert procurement services saving them both time and money and enabling them to focus on what really matters to their businesses.

Proudly part of Compass Group UK & Ireland, which are our parent company and largest client, we purchase directly from manufacturers and growers and our suppliers range from the most recognized brands in the industry to regional and local providers. With a team of 200 procurement professionals driving us forward, our combination of unrivaled scale and outstanding data analysis sets us apart in our markets.

For further information about Foodbuy, please visit <https://www.foodbuy.co.uk/>

The implementation of the system has been seamless and we've received some great bespoke support.

”

Ian Murphy, Managing Director of Foodbuy

Read More